

Blackberry Screen Capture

Written by Herb Oldenburg

Wednesday, 13 June 2007 06:58 - Last Updated Sunday, 09 September 2007 22:45

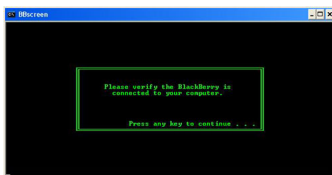

What does bbscrene.exe do to my PC?

Article originally posted on Blackberry Forums.com, by Doug F.

Use BBscreen to capture screenshots for documentation purposes from a live BlackBerry, not a simulator. Give it to your help desk who can send it to end-users to capture screenshots of error messages. Or, put it on a shared network location and have the help desk send links to it. Credit for this goes to Doug F. from Blackberry Forums.

What does the zip do?

- 1.)BBscreen.exe extracts three files to a temp directory.
 - BBscreen.bat
 - JavaLoader.exe
 - choice.com
-
- 2.)BBscreen is launched from the temp directory.

- 3.)If desired you can enter the device password.This is a time saver if you will be taking multiple screen shots.
- 4.)A screenshot is captured and saved to the current users desktop. The file name will have the following format: BBscreen-%UserID%-Picture#%.bmp.

- 5.)You are prompted to take another screenshot.

-

If Yes, the next file name will be incremented by 1.

Blackberry Screen Capture

Written by Herb Oldenburg

Wednesday, 13 June 2007 06:58 - Last Updated Sunday, 09 September 2007 22:45

- If No, BBscreen exits and the temp folder is deleted.

Only thing left behind is the self-extracting executable.

The setup file can be downloaded here.

Webadmin...